
Poems & Lyrics by Dan Maida

dear momma

Monday, November 24, 2008 at 2:21am mother, have you seen my brother lately? i havent in a while, and i miss him oh so greatly when will he be home? today? the next? i have a lot to tell him, though I'm sure you could have guessed my life's been pretty crazy ma, i need a little help and he was always honest, always told me how he felt its been a couple months, since i last looked in his eyes i feel like there's a void in me, a hole on the inside i try to fill it everyday, in many different ways but nothing does the job like that smile upon his face at night sometimes i walk the streets, screaming to the stars "why did you take my brother, how come one of ours?" i yell and cry and punch and bleed, but nothing seems to work i cant help but sometimes think that maybe God is just a jerk but then i stop and realize, he's in a better place God's right hand man, his number one, his handsome loyal ace so goodnight mom, ill be alright, ill see him some day soon when my time comes to rise above- the stars, the sun, the moon.

Cheers To You lyrics

www.myspace.com/harlemsfinest139

Sunday, November 16, 2008 at 12:06am cole ballay tribute song that i wrote a few months after he passed away. thanks to matt warner for recording and the boys who came to recording to chill and help out. chase put the song up on his old myspace account if you want to check it out its not the greatest recording but the link is at the bottom. anyway just wanted to put the lyrics up, seems like there are alotta people out there who can relate to it one way or another.

i sit outside tonight and know summer's ending soon the air is cold as i lay in the grass under your moon and i think to myself, can you see me as i raise my glass to you? i'll stretch it high into the sky, just to see what you will do do you know that ive been lonely, without you by my side can you see that i've been dreaming, i could turn back all of time do you know what i would give, to speak to you tonight just to hear your voice again, it might make me feel alright we miss sitting by the fire late into the night we're holding on so tight to all those times so as i light this one for you, can you feel the heat warming your body too? we'll burn it high into the sky, just to make sure that you do we'll make a toast to your great name as we huddle by the flames cause its getting colder now we're looking up into the heavens as we link our arms, and scream out loud do you know how much we love you, do you know how much we care do you know that if we had the chance we would have been right there do you know what we would give, to be with you right now just to see our friend again, who made us all so proud i sit beneath the stars, in a cold an biting breeze a faint familiar voice, talking right to me says "tell the boys i love them, and keep your heads up now heaven is eternal, ill be here in the clouds... ill be here in the clouds so for now hold on to the ones you love know ill be watching from up above ill keep you safe ill be your dove, and greet you at the gates... when you rise up"

-so for now we'll hold on to the ones we love we know you'll be watching from up above you'll keep us safe we'll hold on to your love and we'll see you at the gates... when we rise up.

sky is the limit

love